SUBSTITUTES FOR GLASS.

Three Compositions Coming into Use in Europe.

There are several substitutes for glass in use in Germany, the chief among them being tectorium, fenestrappe and horn-glass. Tectorium consists of a galvanized iron web covered with a gelatinous substance and is translucent, but not transparent. It is described as a substance that can be bent without being broken and is both tough and flexible. It is said not to be softened by the rays of the sun, is non-soluble, and is not affected by severe cold. It is a poor conductor of heat and is well adapted for roofs on account of its extreme lightness.

When exposed to the sun, it loses its original yellowish color in time and becomes harder and more durable. One advantage is that it can be easily repaired in case it is out, does not break and is well adapted for factory windows and skylights for hothouses, market halls, verandas, transportable buildings and for roofing.

For ordinary hothouses and forcing houses, such as are used by most florists and market gardeners, there is another and cheaper substitute for glass in the so called fenestrappe, which is a tough, strong manilla paper, that may be stretched on large sashes or frames and saturated by painting the exposed surface with boiled linseed oil until it becomes translucent and impervious to water. Light wooden frames, 40 inches in width, and of any desired length, are provided and covered with the paper, which is fastened by nailing at the edges and then painted with ordinary boiled linseed oil until the paper is so saturated that the last coat of oil forms a smooth, glistening surface, like varnish. As soon as dry the frame is ready for use. It admits sufficient light for growing plants, does not require to be shaded in hot sunshine, is light, durable, secure against breakage by hail or ordinary accident, and, taking everything into account, is said to be about 100 times cheaper than glass. It is largely used by florists and market gardeners in the district of Frankfurt, and their general verdict is strongly in its favor, although for handsome conservatories, skylights, etc., it possesses less durability and none of the neatness and elegance of tectorium.

Finally, there is a new product, called horn-glass, which has been recently patented and placed on the German market. Horn-glass resembles tectorium in appearance, with the difference that it is thinner, and consequently lighter in weight, and the insoluble gelatin with which the wire gauze is covered is whiter and more nearly transparent than tectorium, although it may be colored red, green, blue or any other tint that may be desired for special purposes. It is manufactured in two qualities, one being of heavier wire and with larger meshes than the other. The special advantage claimed for horn-glass is that it does not soften under sun heat and is therefore adapted to use in any climate without the danger of becoming so soft and adhesive as to retain dust and dirt. Its uses and general characteristics are similar to those of tectorium.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Occasional constipation becomes chronic. Bowels won't work. Stomach gets sour and generates gas. Liver gets full of bile. He gets into the blood. Headaches come, dizziness, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath, distress after eating—and all because Nature did not have the little help she needed.

One of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets would start the poisonous matter in the way it should go. If there's a good deal of it, better take two—that's a mild cathartic dose.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets never gripe and they cure permanently. You needn't take them forever—just long enough to regulate the bowels—then stop. In this way you don't become a slave to their use as with other pills. Once used, they are always in favor.

Some designing dealers do not permit their customers to have Dr. Pierce's Pellets because inferior pills afford greater profits. Such dealers are short-sighted. They overlook the fact that next time you will go where you are supplied with what you ask for.

SUMMONS.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county. The State of Nevada sends to George C. Staley, greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Blanche G. Staley as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint hereto within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service). If served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover judgment and decree of the Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you and said plaintiff, on the ground of willful neglect and failure on your part for more than four years last past to provide the plaintiff with the common necessities of life, having the ability so to do; and for the custody and control of the minor children Raymond, Carrie, Gordon and Parker Staley, the legal issue of said marriage, now residing with the plaintiff at Reno, Nevada. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of said Court, at Reno, this 17th day of December, A. D. 1896.
P. B. POTTER,
Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

MORALITY EAST AND WEST.

When the Nevada legislature passed the act legalizing prize fights, the State awoke the next morning and found herself famous. The press and public of New York have been particularly outraged by the law, because the press and public of New York represent the "as it must be" in politics in America. There alone does the Seely dinner reach perfection; there alone do the political bosses who have nothing when they start, and do nothing after they have started, become millionaires in a comparatively few years.

The indignation of the New York press and people over the law brings forth something of a defense of Nevada by the Chicago Times-Herald. It very truthfully says that the law contemplates nothing more than the legitimizing of which is publically practiced in New York City. It says that every week two or more noted bruisers are brought together in a hall within earshot of the "best people of New York," and encouraged to hammer each other for the pleasure of three or four thousand more or less enlightened easterers. And this under police supervision and even patronage. The Times-Herald concludes by saying that perhaps the people of Nevada, "simple, uncouth, with no guide to concrete morality, but the example of older communities, took New York as a model, and not being wise enough to disguise price fighting as 'manly exercise,' could see no way of achieving culture and refinement except to legalize the crime. We have only to say to Nevada that it is unsafe to go too far east for guidance in matters of public morality."

The legalizing of prize fights is to be condemned, but the question after all arises whether it is any worse to legalize it than to permit it to go on unregulated. It is not unlike the old question whether a sin is a sin if not discussed.

THE ARBITERS.

It is safe to conjecture that the results of the labors of the Venezuelan arbitration tribunal, which has just been organized, will give signal evidence of the benefits and the possibilities of arbitration. The signing of the Venezuelan treaty ought to give an inspiration to some of the Senators who are blocking the general plan for a five years' tribunal of arbitration between this country and Great Britain.

The men appointed to consider the merits of the Venezuelan treaty are all jurists of repute and experience. Justices Brewer and Fuller are versed in international law, and the high standing of the Supreme Court abroad, as well as the personal attributes of the American arbiters themselves, must make them generally acceptable. Lord Herschell and Sir Richard Henn Collins, both members of the English Supreme Court of Appeal, have dealt with legal problems ever since leaving their college, and public opinion here cannot but approve of their selection so far as fitness and ability are concerned.

These four men and the fifth arbiter, who is to be selected by them, cannot afford to lend their approval to a one-sided or unjust verdict, even did national pride prompt any one of them to do so. As the fifth arbiter will be impartial, it is difficult to see how the tribunal can fail to get at the merits of the troublesome case and decide it in accordance with the dictates of law and equity.

A TIMELY REMARK.

The Gazette understands that several hotel men of Reno are finding a good deal of fault with the local papers because they do not use their influence to have the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill pulled off in Reno instead of Carson. We think the hotel men of Reno should be impartial, it is difficult to see how the tribunal can fail to get at the merits of the troublesome case and decide it in accordance with the dictates of law and equity.

The JOURNAL can attest to the truth of the above. Our contemporary has struck the nail on the head this time, even if it is a little off sometimes on the financial question. Seriously, Reno will profit nearly as much with the fight at Carson as if it takes place here. Carson cannot possibly provide for all the people whom it is estimated will attend the contest. If, as it is stated, 10,000 or 12,000 people will come into the State at that time, and if Carson does get the fight, which we do not think it will, Reno will be taxed to its utmost to provide for the overflow from Carson. If the hotel keepers and others most interested will get ready to accommodate the rush they will find that they will have their hands full wherever the fight is "pulled off."

Burke Cockran, the New York politician, paid Hanna a visit at Cleveland yesterday and an extended conference was held between the two. Cockran said there was no political significance attached to the trip.

It is reported that the foreign warships have begun the bombardment of Canes, Isle of Crete. The German warship of Kaiser Augusta has been ordered to the scene.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Senate considers the Arbitration Treaty in Executive Session—Committee Work.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—The Senate at 1 o'clock went into executive session, on motion of Sherman, to consider the arbitration treaty.

The first question that arose in the executive session of the Senate to-day was a motion by Hill that the arbitration treaty be discussed in open session. He said it was a matter in which the people were greatly interested and there was nothing in the treaty or its discussion that demanded secrecy.

Gray of Delaware, a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, opposed a public discussion. He said that on a matter of dealing with foreign governments the Senators ought to be free and unhampered in the expression of their views, which could be only when the session was held behind closed doors.

There were only eight votes for an open session—Brown, Hill, Lindsay, Peffer, Roach, Stewart, Tillman and Teller.

The Senate by 57 to 14 to-day passed over the President's veto the bill for a new division of the eastern judicial district in Texas. The bill is now a law, having passed the House over the veto.

COMMITTEE WORK.

The Senate Judiciary Committee did not act on any denominations today, all going over.

The Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce considered the bill to prevent ticket brokerage. Without coming to a decision the committee adjourned until Wednesday, although the opinion was expressed it would be useless to report the bill because of opposition which would prevent the passage of any bill this season. The position of the railroads in the last campaign was based on the same opposition. In addition the alleged attempts by railroads to evade Interstate Commerce law was urged especially by Gorman, Chandler and Oulton. No vote was taken, but there was a general acquiescence that it would be best to allow the bill to go over until the next Congress, when, it was suggested, the evils complained of would be remedied by a general amendment to the Interstate Commerce law.

At the meeting of the committee next Wednesday the bill may be taken up again.

The House Committee on Pacific Railroads, after a scrupulous session in which Hubbard of Missouri was criticised severely, to-day decided to report favorably the bill introduced by Representative Harrison of Alabama, for a commission to settle the indebtedness of the Pacific railroads to the Government. The commission is to consist of the Secretaries of the Treasury and Interior and Attorney General. The amendment suggested by Attorney General Harmon that the commission should not interfere with pending negotiations, was adopted. There was no opposition to the plan. The criticism of Hubbard grew out of the fact that no railway men appeared to offer any better terms than the Reorganization Committee.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

A dispatch states that Secretary Carlisle has definitely decided to locate in New York after March 4th for the practice of law.

W. R. Hopkins, a well known man of Stockton, Cal., and a prominent G. A. R. man, committed suicide by hanging at his ranch near Stockton yesterday morning.

Chief Conlin of the New York police has detailed two of his most experienced detectives to watch the residence of Mrs. Bradley-Martin until after the big ball she is going to give.

Part of a train on the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad was thrown from a bridge near Franktown, Ala., Saturday night, causing the death of Engineer Robert Ross and seriously injuring his fireman.

Murderer Butler's examination on extradition proceedings is going on in San Francisco. The hearing will likely last three or four days, after which the findings will be sent to the Secretary of State for approval. Butler is making a strong fight against extradition.

Representative George Washington Murray of South Carolina has decided to abandon his purpose to protest the counting of the electoral vote on Wednesday on the grounds that the election laws of his State were unconstitutional. He has decided that nothing could be affected in that way to change the present election law of South Carolina.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895. This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 45 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

THE NEVADA LEGISLATURE.

THE EIGHTEENTH SESSION—
TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

Dan Stuart's Expected Arrival Was a Disappointment, But His Agents are on the Ground.

CARSON, February 8, 1897.

On the arrival of the train from Reno a large and expectant crowd gathered at the Carson depot and necks were craned to catch a glimpse of Dan Stuart, whom it was reported would arrive. Quite a number of ladies were present, and last but not least an energetic photographer had perched himself on an adjoining awning with camera at hand ready to take a snap shot at the hero of the hour. The only thing lacking to make the reception a notable one was the brass band. Honorables of high and low degree were present ready to give dignity to the occasion.

Carsonites are hero worshippers and it matters little whether the heroes are male or female, statesmen or prizefighters, a reception and frequently an ovation is accorded them on the arrival of each train and if the anticipated event of the arrival of the principals, viz., Corbett and Fitzsimmons, should occur, the occasion would doubtless eclipse the reception tendered the late U. S. Grant upon his visit to Nevada.

The mate admiration that is accorded Wheelock and others of the advance guard of the coming mill is really amusing, and even members of the dignified legal profession seek introductions and are occasionally permitted to converse with some of the agents who, by the way, seem to be quiet and reserved gentlemen and frequently look as if bored by the persistent efforts to engage them in conversation. When introductions are acknowledged by the heroes of the hour, the successful ones are the envy of the crowd standing about. It reminds one of the old circus days when some urbin was fortunate enough to gain the favor of the clown or some performer, he was the envy of his playfellows and he lorded it over them accordingly.

It is quietly reported here, however, that the persistency of some of these would-be bloods and sports is more in working the management for a free pass to the fight than to create any degree of envy among their more unfortunate fellows. The suspense regarding the location of the fight is becoming agonizing, but here like Reno there are several on the inside who know all of the details and could tell if they wanted to, yet Wheelock positively says he does not know what Stuart's decision will be in the matter and will probably not know until his arrival.

The non-arrival of Stuart seemed to have a depressing effect on the solons and most of them sauntered into their respective chambers and took their seats with something of a disappointed look depicted on their countenances.

A joint caucus of the Senate and Assembly is called for to-morrow evening to discuss the financial condition of the State and to provide ways and means in the direction of retrenchment. Senator Ernst of Nye and other members have been studying this question as well as some others of vital importance to the State and it is proposed to present the several matters so clearly that the existing conditions cannot be misunderstood. Mr. Ernst says that the Governor and State Controller show that the State is running behind from $75,000 to $100,000 every two years and insolvency must certainly follow in a short time. The falling off of the revenue caused by the depreciation of values of property and the crippled condition of the interests of the State as well as falling prices is cause for alarm and it is thought that prompt and decisive action must be taken to guard against the wreck that seems almost inevitable.

The discussion to-morrow evening will be with closed doors and facts and figures will be presented that cannot be denied and it will be a caucus of businessmen, many of whom have large interests and some their all at stake within the confines of the State and they are determined to avert the crash if possible.

Senate bill 14, Committee on Claims—To pay deficiencies on claims for the years 1895-96. Committee of the Whole.

At the Opera House.

The Bates-Ward Company appeared at McKissick's Opera House last night before a fair-sized audience in the romantic Irish comedy, "Kittie O'Connor." Carrie Clarke-Ward in the title role of Kitty O'Connor did some very clever character acting. The supporting company was excellent and the singing and dancing could not be improved on. Altogether it was a very creditable performance, and one that was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

To-night the drama, "In Idaho," will be produced. It will be finely staged and a treat is assured all who attend.

OUR IMMENSE TRADE BALANCE.

It Paid a Part of the Interest on Our European Debt.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—The following from Dun's Trade Report for the week ending Feb. 1, 1897, shows how completely this country is at the mercy of Europe as long as we adhere to the gold standard.

"All symptoms are favorable in the money market, and a large sale of securities in connection with the Northern Pacific and Oregon navigation interests to European purchasers will put off still further the possibility of gold exports. It is also cheering evidence of confidence among European investors."

When we consider that the balance of trade for the year 1896 was more than $300,000,000 in favor of the United States, it cannot be considered as very cheering news to the debt-burdened people of this country to be informed that it also requires the sale of an enormous amount of American securities to prevent our gold from going to Europe.

Rothschilds has recently purchased some of the best mines in the United States and of course payment was made out of the interest and dividends collected from securities which they already held against the people and property in this country. Of course the more securities the Europeans acquire against the property of the United States the more it takes to settle the interest. If, with the extremely favorable conditions of 1896, we could not pay the interest due Europe except by meeting the deficiency with more interest bearing obligations, we would like to know how this country ever expects to square the account.

Asa Fisk, the famous expert at compound interest, has given the people of California several valuable object lessons in percentage. Here is one of them. In Sept., 1881, Fisk loaned Henry Shoupsters $150, at 3 per cent per month compounded monthly. The interest on this note of $150 now amounts to about $17,000. It would have been nearly $40,000, but Fisk obtained his first judgment several years ago and the 3 per cent per month compounded interest was slightly reduced since that time. This object lesson by a private money lender of San Francisco ought to show the people very clearly the immense absorbing power of money placed at compound interest.

Here is another object lesson on a large scale. A century ago the people of the United States owed the Europeans about $80,000,000, since that time we have paid upwards of $1,500,000,000 on account and still owe $10,000,000,000 and the debt seems to be growing as fast as compound interest can make it.

Tom Reed must have had this state of affairs in mind when he told the people that the best way to restore prosperity was to become a nation of borrowers.

FARMER.

Reno Feb. 8, 1897.

A SIGNIFICANT TELEGRAM.

Probability That the Contest May be Held in Reno and the Reason Why.

The Associated Press representative in Reno received a rush telegram last night from San Francisco to secure two rooms in Reno immediately for Associated Press reporters from San Francisco.

It appears from this that the newspaper men there have received some inkling that the fight may come off in Reno, for it is argued that if they had not they would not have telegraphed at this time for quarters, as a letter would have answered the purpose just as well. Another day or two will settle the question, for the time is growing short and it will tax all the energies of the fight promoters to erect the necessary buildings, etc., in which the fight is to take place.

If Dan Stuart holds to the words ascribed to him in the telegraphic reports, the only logical place in Nevada to hold the fight is Reno. He is reported as having said that the place or town which afforded the greatest convenience to the traveling public would be the town in which the contest would take place. Reno, therefore, without a doubt, should be the town, it is on the main line of the Central Pacific and it will not necessitate the transfer of passengers as will be the case if the fight comes off in Carson.

One thing is certain and that is that the businessmen of Reno should not offer one single dollar to the promoters of this enterprise to induce them to bring the contest here. These people have received more consideration at the hands of Nevada than they have got or can get anywhere else in the United States, and if they decide on Carson, Reno will still have its hands full in caring for the crowd that will pass through here.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamond Lake, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia, succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Regular size, 50 cts. and $1.

For over fifty years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. It is a natural and wholesome remedy for a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no substitute for it. It cures Diarrhea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison, headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, death has removed from this life the brother of our esteemed classmate, John Wright, be it therefore Resolved, that we, the members of this class of 1900 do extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of affliction.

TWO LITTLE MAIDS.

These Little Maids Have Been Adopted
by an American Gentleman.

Two little Eskimo boys from far
Alaska have been adopted at Glencoe, Mass., the past few weeks. They are twins, 6 years old, and traveled overland with their adopted father, Mr.
Miner W. Bruce, who came from Seattle in order to purchase a fishing schooner
destined for the north Pacific fisheries.
Mr. Bruce, who was born in Boston, is a well known scientific and literary man whose work on Alaska is a standard publication of the kind.

In 1899 he established the government
reindeer station at Fort Clarence, Alaska, at which place reindeer are brought across from Siberia by the government agents for the purpose of propagation for a food supply.

The parents of the little ones were too poor to keep them, and Mr. Bruce decided he would bring them up himself.
They are devotedly attached to him. He says they never quarrel among themselves over the possession of toys or other matters, as some children, nor do they give any trouble to the hotel people; but, on the contrary, become prime favorites with all with whom they come in contact. Neither does the transition in their mode of life nor the change of climate affect their health or disposition.
They thrive in any place.—Boston Herald.

A Snowball.

Teddy never meant to do it, but when Tom threw a snowball what could he do but squeeze up another and toss it back? And how could he know that naughty ball would hop right over Tom's head and go smash right into the window of Miss Priscilla Prim's millinery shop? But there was the broken pane and the glass scattered all over the ladies' bonnets.

Tom dodged around one corner and Teddy around the other. When Miss Priscilla looked out the street was as empty and still as if there was not one little boy in town.

"I got off pretty well," thought Ted-
dy. "If she caught me, she'd make me
pay my whole 87 cents."

Nobody but Teddy knew how many errands he had run and how many paths
he had swept and how much candy and pogorn and butter sooth he had not eaten to get together that 87 cents. As soon as he could earn just 13 cents more they were all to go for the little steam engine in the toyshop window.

Just five minutes later Teddy stepped into Miss Priscilla's shop with his little red savings bank in his hand. He emptied it on the counter, and out came rolling such a swarm of dimes and nickels and pennies! Miss Priscilla was as surprised that her eyebrows went right up to her little gray curls.

"Say, I fixed that snowball," said Teddy bravely. "So I ought to pay for it, 'course, you know."

"Well, you are an honest boy!" said
Miss Priscilla. "But you are dreadful careless."

Teddy went past the toyshop window
on his way home, and he could not help just looking at the little engine. But he was not sorry for being honest, not a bit.—Youth's Companion.

Boys and Girls' Bird Day.

How would you like to spend one day
every year studying the birds? The boys and girls of Oil City, Pa., and of Fort Madison, Ia., have a regular bird day,
which comes every year, in the spring,
like Arbor day. They have songs, recitations and readings about birds, and in the afternoon they take a trip to the woods to hear the songs of the birds. At the Fort Madison school the pupils bring their pet birds, and the building rings
all day with their songs. Besides that,
the pupils watch the birds all the year
through, reporting when the birds come in the spring and studying those that remain during the winter.—Chicago Record.

Brave Girls of Canton.

The most effective cigarette crusade of the day is being carried on in Canton, O., where a number of schoolgirls recently formed a league and went about securing pledges from their boy friends
not to smoke cigarettes.—Philadelphia
Press.

The Little Girl That Grew Up.
She was sitting up straight in a straight-backed chair.
There wasn't a hair in her shining hair.
There wasn't a speck on her dainty dress.
And her rosy face was full of distress.
When I drew near to this maiden fair,
She suddenly rumbled her shining hair,
And dropping down "the bangs" on the floor,
Uplifted her voice in a wail most sore.

"Now, what is the matter, my pretty maid?"
"I'm all grown up," she dolefully said,
"And I'm lonesome—as lonesome as lonesome can be."
For Humpty Dumpty and Riddle-me-ree.

"There's Little Boy Blue, who used to creep
Under our haystack and fall asleep.
He isn't my friend since mother dear Did up 'my hair' in this twist so queer."

"And the dog and the fiddle, they left me, too
When the baby into a woman grew.
The dish has hidden away with the spoon,
And the cow has staid at the back of the moon."

"The little old woman who swept the sky
Is caught in her cobwebs high and dry.
And Jack and his beanstalk I cannot find Since I began to improve my mind."

"I wouldn't be scared—not a single mile—
If the bogabo I should meet tonight.
The bog man I'd be glad to see,
But they'll never—no, never—come back to me."

"I watched in the garden last night at dark
A fairy favor to find, but—hark!
My mother is calling—don't you hear?
Young ladies don't sit on the foot, my dear."
—Zion's Herald.

Hopeful.

The dry goods merchant was explaining the situation to the new drummer
he had just employed.

"Your predecessor," he said, "has gotten his business all tangled up, and if you take his place you will have a difficult task getting order out of chaos."

"I don't know who Chaos is," cheerfully replied the drummer, "but I bet I'll sell him a bill of goods if I have to hang on to him a week."—Detroit Free Press.

SEEKING A SIGN.

Sweetheart, the more is drawn
That dwells on drearier night without you here.

And day drags slow
To eyes and lips and heart that miss you so.
Sweetheart, beyond the night
That hides your dear lost form from mortal
sight,
Send me one word
Or sign that my soul's lonely cry is heard.
Sweetheart, not clasping hands
I ask, but I would know and understand
It may be
One waiting spirit looks and longs for me.
—J. L. Hazen in "The Quilting Bee."

HEAVEN AND HELL.

Various Theories as to the Location of Paradise and Hades.

Hell and heaven beliefs had their origin about the year 150 B. C., and since that time there have been thousands of attempts to locate these places,
the one of future punishment and the other of everlasting happiness. The old medieval idea of hell is the one which gives us to understand that the devil and his imps have their fornares and their caldrons and other articles of infernal utility constantly working somewhere within the bowels of the earth.
On the other hand, we are told and believe that heaven is an abode of light, beauty and joy, located far above the earth. One writer believes that heaven will be on a planet which will be prepared for the saints in the last day; and another believes that this earth, burned
over and purified by fire, will be the final resting place of those who escape the torments of perpetual punishment in the borders of perpetual punishment in the hell that has been prepared for those who love sin." Dr. Whiston, the friend of Sir Isaac Newton and the first of the great race of "speculative astronomers,"
believes that hell is located on a comet.

But the most curious theory we have ever investigated was that advanced by Dr. Mortimer, author of "The Spirit of God as Fire." One of the several substitutes of this remarkable book was one which gave the reader to understand that the author believed that heaven is located on the inner globe of the sun.
This substitute was "The Globe Within the Sun—Our Heaven." According to Mortimer's theory, our sun is surrounded by an envelope or photosphere of flame 100,000 miles itself. Taken all together, this idea of the photosphere is a vast nonluminous void. Farther on is the great globe of the sun itself.

Taken all together, this idea of the sun may be aptly compared to a peach,
or a plum. The envelope of flame occupies the place of the skin, the "vast nonluminous void" the place of the meat of the fruit and the central globe (true sun) the place of the seed. On this sun globe, inside the great fiery envelope, Dr. Mortimer believed heaven to be situated. The photosphere or envelope of fire he took to be hell or the place
of future punishment for the wicked.
The "nonluminous void," according to Mortimer, is the "great gulf between,"
which is mentioned quite frequently in the Scriptures.—St. Louis Republic.

Saved by a Sausage.

It is possible to overestimate the courage of a robber, as may be seen by this story by Judge Seymour D. Thompson, given in the St. Louis Republic:

McNab was the hero of a hairbreadth escape. It was in Canada, where Mc-Nab, a brave Scotchman, was fellow colporteur of my father, the Rev. Seymour Thompson.

The two became separated on the night of McNab's adventure. The Scotchman was riding through a forest unarmed. He had a package of Bibles on one side of his saddle and on the other a string of frozen sausages, which were to be thawed and cooked for his breakfast. A highwayman stopped Mc-Nab's reflections and his progress at the same time.

The Scotchman was frightened. He never denied that. He had a little money in his boot, and he leaned over to remove the boot and satisfy the demand of the robber. His hand struck against the frozen sausages. He bethought himself of these. Perhaps they would be accepted instead of money.

He broke one of them in two and was about to offer half of it to the highwayman, when suddenly he found himself alone and heard the clatter of a horse's rapidly retreating hoofs. Badly frightened as he was, McNab laughed. The robber had mistaken the tracking of the sausage for the cocking of a pistol and had fled.

A Mouse's Quarter Century Run.
A wheelman hung his bicycle from the ceiling of his cellar and not far from a swinging shelf on which food was kept. A mouse jumped from the wall on to the tire of the front wheel, evidently hoping thereby to reach the shelf.
The wheel started, and mouse naturally ran toward the highest part of it.
It was able to stay on the top of the tire, but couldn't get enough of a foothold to jump to the wall. When found next morning, the mouse was very much exhausted, though still running. The cyclometer showed that it had traveled over 28 miles.—Albany Express.
